

Precision Cut - More Options

June 2011

We can change the design, colour, scale... your options are endless...

Tint Design has made decision-making effortless with its new design range which showcases an impressive range of designs, layouts and colour options. In the comfort of your office you can explore the different options for yourself!

Tint Design's precision cutting service allows your design to be stencilled out of vinyl film. There is a broad range of readily available designs to choose from in the online Design Range, but all designs can also be modified to suit the desired application. With our extensive range of drawings and artwork, precision cut designs ensure that even a simple pane of glass can become a work of art!

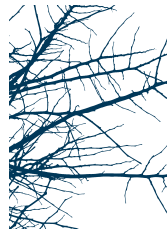

Any of our designs can be used by you as they are however, if they do not suit your project please contact us about changing the colour, scale or layout of the design as shown in the examples below.

If these designs do not satisfy your requirements, we are able to reproduce any design that you give us. We will also be providing more design options in the future, so please visit this link from time to time to for some more ideas for your next project.
